Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Good news: The President plans another fishing trip in July. This time to the Galapagos Islands to be gone a month. A great many people will wish him luck and a jolly time.

Hitler promises Chamberlain not to invade Czechoslovakia and start a world war. Doubtless he will continue to focus Nazi attention upon the little republic without actually invading it. Dictators hold sway largely by directing the attention of their oppressed peoples to green pastures across their boundaries.

Another attempt to escape from Alcatraz has been foiled. "The Rock" was apparently well chosen as a place for the safe keeping of dangerous men. Warden Johnson understands his business without rushing into print with every incident that happens. The undesirable social fringe universally loves exploitation in the press. When a criminal goes to "the Rock" for the term of his sentence, he might just as well have been interred. Silence envelopes him so far as the outside world is concerned.

One thing that has not yet received a satisfactory answer in the courts is whether or not an employer may dismiss an unsatisfactory employe if that employe be a member of a union. The Hollywood Citizen-News dismissed three members of the editorial staff. The entire staff belonged to the Guild, a CIO affiliate. A strike was called and demand made that the three be re-instated. The publisher insisted it was his perogative to hire and fire as the need arose in the conduct of his business. The newspaper appears regularly but the strike is still on.

Who is to determine when an employe is fired for incompetence and when for union activity? May an employer discharge an habitual drunkard who is also a member of a labor union? Must an employer take a chance, on discharging an insubordiate employe, on being ordered to reinstate him because he is a member of a union? Some court, somewhere, should settle these questions.

North San Juan will this year observe Memorial Day. The old cemetery there contains the mortal part of many a soldier, many a pioneer, who served with honor his country in peace or war. The patient dead, neglected for many a decade, many of them at least, if they may look down from the windows of heaven, will be glad to be remembered again, to see their graves again abloom with flowers.

The staff of life in "Old Cathay" is rice, even as wheat is with the Occidental world. Rice is probably the most inexpensive food in China, yet millions are so destitute as a result of the ruthless Japanese invasion that they perish for the lack of a few grains of this cereal daily. The sorest spot on this earth is China. The Bowl of Rice Ball, coming June 17, will provide every one who holds within himself a bit of the milk of human kindness an opportunity to succor some starving Chinese woman or child. Let it not pass.

Los Angeles reaches into every nook and corner of the country seeking vacation patronage. A circular just received pictures the many kinds of recreation that may be enjoyed there. Fifty years ago Los Angeles was little more than a squalid village. It was dusty, dirty, windy in summer, muddy and foggy in winter. It has never had a climate to compare with that of Santa Barbara or Ventura. But a man-made metamorphosis has taken place. Trees, spacious lawns, gardens, wide paved streets have cooled the temperature in summer and made the winters far pleasanter. Advertising has brought more people with money each year who have contributed to more advertising to bring more people. Advertising Los Angeles in Nevada county, however, we suspect is thrown away. Who would leave this beautiful country to spend a vacation in Los Angeles?

The largest summer attendance of Boy Scouts at Camp Pahatsi in its brief history is confidently predicted for this season by Harris Ricksecker, region scout executive. Last winter established a new record for winter attendance at the boy's lodge in the high Sierras. Pahatsi is a paradise for youth. Those who contributed the money and built the camp are public benefactors in a splendid way.

Miss Florence Genasci and Mrs. A. W. Hoge spent Tuesday in Sacramento on a business and pleasure trip.

ROTARY IS TOLD OF REVOLUTION IN OLD MEXICO

Ralph Everett, history professor in the Sacramento Junior College, yesterday gave the Rotary club at luncheon a brief outline of Mexican revolutions, painting a vivid background for the present unrest in that country and the fundamental reasons for expropirations of foreign oil land holdings, mines, ranches, etc.

It was not until thirty years after the American Revolution that its repercussions began to be felt in Mexico, Mr. Everett said. Then a priest revolted both against the rules of his church and laws of the state and attempted to upset the feudalistic system which had been imposed by the conquistadores upon the native Indian population in the sixteenth century.

This revolution, like all revolutions since, was intended to restore to the Indians some of the rights and natural resources such as mines, and lands, which had passed into the hands of the Spanish people, consisting of about 20 per cent of the population.

The condition of the Indian people, which have their own very marked culture, has for some centuries been that of slaves, through "peons" is the word more generally used. To an American they would mean practically the same thing. Peons lived on the land of the great haciendas and were passed down from generation to generation along with the land to those that inherited it. They were generally in debt and their children inherited their debts, because all that they bought was purchased from the hacienda stores.

The names of Iturbe, Juarez and others illumine the long history of revolution in Mexico. For forty years Porfirio Diaz ruled the country with an iron hand, and his picture along with that of Santa Ana does not hang on walls of Mexico's temple of fame in Mexico City. The Mexicans do not honor the memory of those two. The effort President Cardenas is making today is primarily to restore to the 95 per cent of the population the economic rights that were lost to their ancestors 400 years ago.

FANDANGO, BULL FIGHTS; FOR 4TH CELEBRATION

Enthusiasm prevailed at a Fourth of July committee meeting held in the city hall at Nevada City by President Fred E. Conner and his committee Tuesday evening.

It was tentatively planned to make the event a celebration of the 90th birthday of Nevada City. Nevada City was then under Mexican rule and the celebration will have a Mexican motif with a fandango as closely resembling those old time Mexican events as possible. George Gildersleeve was chosen chairman of the committee.

It will be a three day celebration with Saturday night, July second, turned over to E Clampus Vitus. On Sunday there will be patriotic exercises and Monday July Fourth, the big parade will take place.

Instead of the usual soliciting of funds from business houses and citizens it is planned to hold a big benefit dance and barbecue in Pioneers park Sunday, June 12. It has been suggested as attractions for the afternoon, a baseball game, East Side of Nevada City vs. West Side; Mexican bull fight with gaudily dressed torredores, and other amusements to draw a large crowd. Banner Mt. Post V. F. W. will take an active part in the benefit barbecue picnic and dance.

The plans are subject to the approval of the Chamber of Commerce at its next meeting, the committee of Tuesday evening having been instructed to report on plans for a July Fourth celebration.

BUDDY POPPIES

Max Weiss veteran and member of Banner Mt. Post, V. F. W. has been selected chairman of the committee which will sell Buddy Poppies in Nevada City Saturday, Sunday and Monday. About 1000 poppies were sent to Mr. Weiss to sell. The flowers are made by disabled veterans and the money received from their sale is used to make life more worth while for disabled veterans.

NO ISSUE OF NUGGET ON MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day falls on next Monday and the Nevada City Nugget with other business houses will be closed. There will be no issue of the Nugget on that day. Banks and public offices will also be closed.

EUGENE TUCKER LEAVES FOR SOUTH AFRICA

Mr and M.rs. Eugene Tucker and two little daughters will depart on the train from Colfax today for O'OKiep, Namaqualand, mining district in South Africa where Mr. Tucker will join the staff of Superintendent George Kervin. Mr. Kervin is reopening the O'OKiep Copper Co., Ltd. property for the Newmont Interests. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Elliott and son left here about a year ago and are at the mine also.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker will sail from New York for Capetown about three weeks ocean voyage. Winter has just started there. There is about six or seven inches of rainfall for the season. It is considered a healthful place, the elevation is 3,000 feet. The mine is between 200 and 300 miles north of Capetown.

Mr. Tucker, born and reared in Nevada City, attended the local schools and graduated from University of Nevada at Reno in 1930. He has been employed at the Murchie mine ever since completing school and is one of the faithful and trusted employees.

The men employed with Mr. Tucker at the Murchie mine presented him with a 21 jewel Waltham wrist watch yesterday in token of their love and esteem. The entire community wishes this splendid young couple bon voyage and a safe journey and much prosperity. Mr. Tucker loves this district and spoke of his returning at the expiration of his three years contract with the mine.

Mr. Tucker's mother, Mrs. Anna C. Tucker and brother, Robert Tucker, reside in Nevada City.

UNIFIED SCHOOL SYSTEM ADOPTED FOR NEV. CITY

The Nevada City Board of Education has announced that beginning the new fiscal year, July 1, a unified school district will be established with a superintendent of schools, and a vice principal each for the high school and the elementary school. The board has appointed H. E. Kjorlie, superintendent of the unified distrcit. Mrs. Eva Flewellan has been named vice principal of the high school. The post of vice principal of the elementary school was offered to Walter Carlson but he declined and has tendered his resignation. Many friends of Mr. Carlson will regret his departure from the schools of this city where he has served so long and faithfully.

Mrs. Flewellan has a host of friends who rejoice with her in her advancement to a post of more responsibility. She is regarded as not only a teacher of fine achievement, but also a very capable administrator. The appointment of Mr. Kjorlie to the superintendency of the unified school district will relieve the school board of much of clerical work which has become increasingly burdensome with the growth of the two school systems. The enviable record Mr. Kjorlie as principal of the high school, in the opinion of his many friends warrants his promotion to a larger sphere.

The teachers whose contracts for the ensuing school year were renewed are as follows:

ELEMENTARY STAFF

Miss Gertrude Goyne, Mrs. Doris Foley, Miss Savory Ford, Miss Ruth Tamblyn, Mrs. Mabel Flindt, Mrs. Mary Warnecke, Miss Ruth Hogan, Miss Virginia Ramm, Miss Helen Chapman, Miss Winifred Grant, Mrs. Elza Kilroy, Wallace Leslie, Mrs. Isabelle Hefelfinger (school nurse); Mrs. C. A. Libbey (superintendent music and choral.)

THREE CARS COLLIDE ON TOWN TALK HILL

Vernon Mathensen was injured in a three car collision at Town Talk on Wednesday night suffering a head cut, bruised ribs and bruised leg.

At nine o'clock Wednesday night a car driven by Robert Hill, with his wife and son, enroute to Nevada City collided with the car of Fred McArthur, going to Grass Valley. The left front wheels of the two cars hooked together and were pulled into the center of the highway. Hills car went down the highway for about fifty feet and then stopped.

Directly behind was the car of Vernon Mathensen of Nevada City, McArthur's car cut across the path of the Mathensen car and struck it. All three cars were considerably damaged.

Chief of Police Garfield Robson and Night Watchman James Allen upon receiving word of the accident immediately went to the scene. Mathensen was taken to Dr. Hummelt's office for treatment.

FORTY POUNDS OF FISH; $100 FINE

Captain A. H. Willard arrested Herman Gunfle, president of Rathjen Bros., Ins., of San Francisco in Sacramento May 15 with 40 pounds of trout in his possession. The arrested man had caught them in Lake Tahoe and was returning to the bay region when arrested. His case was brought before Judge Orr in Sacramento and he was fined $100. The limit on fish is ten pounds. Captain Willard states fishing is good at Lake Tahoe.

Earl Hiscox, fish and game commission, states fishing is improving throughout the local areas and fly fishing is just coming in. Last week he saw ten fine trout taken from Wolf Creek southeast of Grass Valley. He warns everyone that roads and trails into the high mountains remain closed with deep snows and trees. Last week he walked 24 miles through snow to the Bowman-Lake Fuller region and found the snow deep and many trees across the roads, some of the trees are six feet thick.

The officers stated good catches are being made in Bloody Run, Grizzy Canyon, Glide Creek, Deer Creek, Scotts Flat Dam and many other places.

CAMP FIRE NOTES

The Wowake Group will hold their regular weekly meeting, on Friday, May 27, at the home of Mrs. L. B. Gregory on the Tahoe Ukiah highway.

The Council Fire to be held Friday evening has been postponed till a future date.

Five Peace Officers Testify In Trial Of Alleged Rioters

A newspaper picture purporting to show one of the deputies in action during the battle with CIO pickets on the Murchie road, was introduced in the trial of five accused of rioting, now going forward in the superior court. A clipping of the picture was permitted by Judge Tuttle to be filed with the provision that it be properly identified.

Deputy Sheriff Woods admitted that the picture was of himself but declared it did not give a true picture of the scene in which he was an actor. Attorney Resner for the defense, attempted to show that so long as the witness identified himself in the picture, it could be introduced in evidence, but the judge ruled the picture must first be identified legally. Attorney Anderson, admitted that the defense might not be able to produce the original negative or photograph.

Woods testified that he saw Spear sitting on Frank Misner and beating him with his fist When the tear gas got thick he tried to pull Misner out of the melee and someone jumped on his (Woods') back. Prior to the tear gas episode he stated he saw Henry Yuen try to put a lighted match in the tank of one of the first cars in the procession.

The jury finally chosen Wednesday to try five men accused of rioting on January 20 consists of Hubert H. Hubbard, miner, Grass Valley; John Culver, retired, French Corral; Mrs. Bessie Butler, housewife, Wolf Creek district; Gertrude Lanz, Tahoe Ukiah highway, housewife; Dr. L. W. Harden, Wolf district, retired; Rolfe Buffington, Downieville road, miner; Thos. Osborne, Grass Valley, butcher; George P. Still, Lime Kiln, farmer; Mrs. Bertha Hargrave, Nevada City, housewife; Leonora Salisbury, Soda Springs, housewife; Bernard Maguire, Liberty Hill, placer miner; Martha Key, Nevada City, housewife.

The witnesses examined Wednesday and yesterday were first, Sheriff Tobiassen, and deputies Carl Larsen, William Woods and a special deputy Frank Misner and John Muscardini.

Sheriff Tobiassen gave a straightforward account of the rioting on the Murchie mine road near its junction with the Red Dog road, on the morning of January 20, when the Murchie miners were escorted through the picnet lines by the sheriff and his deputies. The sheriff said he fohnd the pickets in mass formation, warned them to disperse. The men refused to do so. He had a conference with the pickets, and into this conference Scott Erwin and two others entered. The sheriff said he told Erwin to mind his own business. Tobiassen said that when the caravan of Murchie miners arrived they entered the Murchie road and stopped when the first car reached the pickets massed in the road and along the banks of the cut. He stated that Circle, Yuen and Vasion were in front of the car. It was then that he ordered the pickets to disperse.

Misner testified that he had seen Circle attempting with others to overturn Orzalli's car, the first in the caravan, and that he had seen Yuen with a two pound coffee can throwing water on the engine of the car. Misner finally received a blow that put him out and when he came to he was being given first aid treatment. On cross examination he was asked at some length regarding a package of pick handles that had been deposited somewhere in the vicinity but declared he did not know who had brought them there.

As with other witnesses the defense attorneys tried to establish through Carl Larsen, deputy sheriff, when he took the stand, that there had been consultation between the Murchie mine management and the sheriff. Little headway was made in that direction. Larsen substantially corroborated the testimony of the other witnesses. He told of being knocked off his feet by a rock which Sheriff Tobiassen had stated was hurled by Zdrich.

The defendants, Roy Staton, C. E. Circle, Henry Yuen, Peter Zdrich and James Vasion displayed keen interest in the passage between the sheriff and Attorney Anderson and in the courtproceedings generally.

The sheriff said: "Mr. Circle said: 'Boys, we can't let them go through! We will die first! President Roosevelt is behind us. We will stand on our constitutional rights'.

"I saw Mr. Vasion pick up a rock. Deputy Dick Rafferty warned him to put it down. Several of them grabbed Beno Orzalli's car and started to pick it up. Circle said: 'Tip the damn thing over. They won't go through!' I saw Mr. Yuen throw water on the engine of the car. Woods, Larsen, and Misner stepped on the running board of the car and held it down. Next, I saw Misner struck on the neck and go down." (The sentence, on motion of Defense Attorney Anderson, was ordered stricken out.)

"I saw Vasion," the sheriff continued, "throw a rock through the windshield of Orzalli's car and strike Frank Buster in an eye. I saw Mr. Staton on the west bank of the road. He hit me in the solar plexus with a rock. I then went down and got a load of gas. After again warning them to leave I threw a gas bomb into the midst of them. I called upon the highway patrol to assist me. I called out the riot guns.

"I saw Yuen throw two or three rocks in the direction of the afficers. The rocks varied from the size of a turkey egg to the size of my fist."

Attorney Anderson interposed objection after objection, to much of Tobiassen's testimony, Superior Judge Tuttle constantly was called upon to sustain or overrule Anderson's objections. Testimony regarding the affray outside of that concerning the defendants was ruled out.

Anderson objected to the sheriff's reference to the affray as a "fight". He suggested it be referred to as an "occurrence." The request was granted by Judge Tuttle.

While Tobiassen was under cross examination, Attorney Anderson requested he be permitted to question the sheriff in order to show he cooperated with the Murchie mine management in escorting what Anderson termed "strike breakers" back to work.

The district attorney's objection on the ground it was not within the scope of direct examination and also immaterial, incompetent and irrelevant was sustained by Judge Tuttle.

"Isn't it a fact," Anderson then asked, "you met with a group of Murchie men and told them you would escort them to the Murchie mine shaft?"

"I did not," Tobiassen replied. "I told them I would maintain an open road policy"

"Between the 17th and 20th of January did you have a conversation with any one in an official capacity at the Murchie mine, the Empire Star Company, Ltd, or the Newmont Mining Company, about escorting men onto the Murchie property?"

District Attorney Stoll again objected, but Tobiassen already had answered:

"No sir."

Anderson then made the statement:

"I am going to show this man (he pointed his finger at Tobiassen) started the riot. He went out there with cars loaded with rifles, pistols, tear gas, and riot guns and about forty deputies. I want to show why he took off his wrist watch from his wrist while everything was quiet and placed it in a safe spot."

Tobiassen admitted he had been told the Murchie miners would return to work the morning of January 20th.

The sheriff was the only witness on the stand during Wednesday's proceedings. The selection of the jury was completed shortly before noon. It is composed of seven men and five women.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hallock of Alleghany left Sacramento yesterday on the streamline train for New York where they will remain a month. Mr. Hallock will attend to some business and the remainder of the time will be spent vacationing.

Mrs. Ella M. Austin, county superintendent of schools, attended graduation exercises in Truckee grammar school last evening. The speaker of the evening was from the University of Nevada at Reno.

Labor's Problem

Let the laboring man take stock of his plight before too late.

Promised Utopia, labor is facing its gravest hour because of the falseness and incompetence of those who promise most.

Five years of obviously insincere political mouthings and moral bankruptcy in government contribute to labor's plight.

Administration approval of organized exploitation of labor by self-seeking racketeers contributes too.

The inevitable reaction to preposterous labor board rulings is a vital factor in labor's plight through the alienation of labor's best friend, the employer.

Continued government policies of putting a premium on grafting idleneess adds to labor's plight by increasing the load upon its back.

Proposed wage and hour legislation if passed will end all economic freedom for labor, make legitimate unionization fruitless, and leave labor to the caprices of politicians called "senators" and "congressmen," not to mention "reform"-crazed chief executives.

Worst of all is the continued morale destructiveness of studied hate engendering utterances used as punctuation marks in sophistic honeyed phrases to industry—insulting to the intelligence of all who stop to think.

Labor had best awaken before this combination of forces reduces it, and its best friend, industry, to total impotence and regimented helplessness.—The Mining and Contracting Review.

Just Wonderin'

I wonder greatly when I see
A billboard fastened to a tree;
A tree that stands erect and tall
Yet seems to have no trunk at all,
That lifts its leafy branches high,
In solemn protest to the sky;
A tree condemned by man to wear
A gaudy billboard in its hair.

I wonder if in all the realm of nature, there is another object so graceful, beautiful and inspiring as a tree, or one that through the ages has been more conductive to the well being and progress of mankind.

Long before the dawn of history, trees began ministering to the needs of our arboreal ancestors; first, they were used as homes, then the tribes became ground-minded and one day Mr. Anthropodius Sr., who was growing a brain, spanned a small sluggish stream with a fallen tree and crossed to the other shore, there to annex new territory or perhaps to select a mate from a strange and more intelligent clan.

In due course of time junior, who was a precocious youngster, carved a canoe from a tree trunk, cut a straight pole from a manzanita hedge, affixed to it a strip of wood fiber and went fishing for fat heads in the murky pools which dotted his parental estate; trees and men were on their way.

History began and now as we look backward, we see that it is punctuated with great achievements made possible by the use of trees. Noah constructed the ark of schittim wood and caulked it with pitch. Solomon's temple called for the cedars of Lebanon, Columbus sailed three little wooden caravals across unknown seas and bearded the American Indian in his own primeval forest reserve. The Mayflower was a wooden ship, and her thousands of passengers builded wooden homes of trees which they had felled in order to plant crops which were never destined to be plowed under. Our first churches, school houses and town halls were lumber built; and today wood and the by-products of our forests are used for over four thousand purposes. Verily man owes a great debt to the trees. an obligation which he is just beginning to recognize.

I wonder if the spiritual and inspirational values of a tree do not greatly transcend its commercial and material worth. Beautiful serenity, strength and courage in calm or storm, and a constant reaching upward toward the light, surely these are traits well worthy of human emulation—traits which should win for our friends the trees, love, respect, care and studied protection.

Uncle Silas says: "I 'spose it's only fools like me who spike their billboards to a tree."

Mrs. Nora Austin left yesterday on a two months trip that will take her into Montreal, Canada, and back into the United States to visit in New Hampshire, Vermont, Boston, Mass., and New York. She had planned the trip last year and was delayed by a broken arm, but this year she will enjoy visiting relatives in each place.

A Surcease Of Grouches

H. M. L. Jr.

Gardening is a cure-all for a multitude of man's milder and most pestiferous ills. Nerves, high blood pressure, indigestion, lassitude, boredom; all these and many other ailments succumb to the pleasant prescriptions of the garden. Manual work is transformed from drudgery to pleasure when it takes part in the grand growing pageant that climaxes in myriad small works of art, each infinitely more beautiful than the greatest successes of human handicraft. The nerves are soothed by rhythms of garden work. There is about it a quiet power that drives worries away and opens the sensory doors of the mind to appreciation of beautiful growing things and the sounds of nature, and the good smell of the earth. This joy of the senses takes full possesion of the mind tired from the pressure and contacts of society. As the body is refreshed by the light labor of the garden, so is the mind invigorated by neglect of its accustomed pains, for which are substituted absorption in the sublimely satsfying occupation of making plants grow. Enough water, enough sunlight, enough cultivation but not too much of any, these, are the simple factors with which the mind can relax in happiness, and almost always master with success.

Success is good for anyone, and when successes are small and come in bunches of exquisite beauty, as do the gardener's flowers, they are the most satisfying of mental tonics. It is rare to find an enthusiastic gardener who is not a happy man. Melancholia can not compete with the fascination of green leaves multiplying in the spring or buds slowly opening to reveal dazzling beauty. A man may sit in his comfortable chair in his house and brood unendingly on the hungry state of his purse, or the extravaganve of his wife or the shiftlessness of mankind, but once get him out in his garden and there this blossom is vying in gorgeousness with that one and each demanding to be cared for; to be freed from weeds, to be given air, to be admired. There is no time for morbid meditation in the garden. There is too much to be done and felt.

To all the complainers about the degeneracy of modern mankind caused by an over-abundances of vicarious joys like radio and movies, I would like to put one question. Have you got a garden? If they haven't a garden they are thefselves sinners by omission in neclecting one of the most easily attainable leisure activities. If they have a garden, why aren't they out weeding in it instead of belly-aching about the great masses who may have the radio turned on and are probably planning to go to the movies in the evening, but very likely are taking care of the petunias at the very moment the bellyacher has his mouth so wide open you could shove a sunflower down it.

In my opinion, the majority of American people who have the prerequisites for a garden —a plot of good earth, plenty of water, and a little leisure—make good use of their opportunity to enjoy this decidedly un-vicarious pastime. In any town with abundant water and fair-sized lots, almost every house has its plot of lawn and beds of flowers. The American public is not dull enough to overlook the advantages of a hobby of which every aspect is benevolent.

There is so much good about gardening, and so little bad, that it pains me to close this eulogy with a stern warning to every prospective novitiate. There is one branch of the art that becomes a thorn in the side of every gardener who yields to its fatal fascination. Do not stick yourself with this phase of gardening. It is boiled down essence of the Spanish Inquisition, plus the third degree, the hot-fat and the Nazi anti-treason treatment. I refer to cactus gardening. Take my advice and leave it alone.

JOAN GRANT IN YOUTH GROUP SUNDAYPROGRAM

Miss Joan Grant of Nevada City had a prominent part in the program of the 12th Young Peoples Sunday service of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, in Springfield, Mass., held on Sunday, May 22.

Miss Grant was in the finals of the Crusaders contest in this district last year and it is with much pleasure that her many Nevada City friends learn of her continued participation and success in similar affairs in the east.

The Springfield Daily Republican says of Miss Grant's part in the program: "Speaking on 'My Personal Religion,' Miss Grant, a student at American International College, said in part, religion means trusting in God, patterning one's life after that exemplified by the life of Christ, and doing unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Youth today has disregarded many old ideas which they have proved to their satisfaction are merely superstitions, Miss Grant said. But although they have modified older beliefs, they have learned from their elders, and put into practice what they learned. Indeed, young people today are taking an ever greater part in religious life, she said. Many are expanding their youth work, in a field in which Trinity is among the leaders, she continued. Courses in religious education and church work are being conducted to train youth to be tomorrow's leaders.

Miss Grant, a native of Nevada City, said last night that a service patterned on that of Trinity's youth Sunday will be instituted soon at the church in her community. She mentioned the local service in letters home, and the idea was taken up there.

Miss Grant's picture was also in the Springfield paper.

HORSE SHOW TO MARK STAMPEDE AT MARYSVILLE

MARYSVILLE, May 26. — The horse show of the California Stampede to be held at the Marysville high school stadium, Saturday evening, May 28, will be one of the outstanding horse shows of the state according to Tevis Paine, manager of the California State Fair horse show and director of the stampede horse show.

The setting which is being prepared for the horse show on lighted football field, is one of the most beautiful backgrounds ever produced for a horse show Paine stated.

One hundred and fifty horses in eighteen classes participating for more than $2500 in prize money will put the prizes offered second only to the state fair, and will make the Stampede Horse show one of the ranking one day shows in the United States.

Harry Rowell announced that three carloads of range steers would arrive in Marysville today and that on Friday four carloads of wild horses would be here from Nevada.

Rowell stated, "the wild horses to be used at Marysville will be the roughest bunch ever gathered for a rodeo. Black Angus calves will be used in the roping events.

In addition to the world's championship contest there will be three events for strictly local cowboys. A steer roping, calf roping contest and pony express race.

Twenty two Yuba and Sutter county cowboys have already entered the local events. In addition to the cash prizes, two beautiful cups will be given.

HEALD COLLEGE IS 75 YEARS OLD

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.— Founded in 1863 by Edward Payson Heald, Heald College celebrates its diamond anniversary this year. Its inauguration marked the entrance into the educational field of an essentially different type of training unit, the private business college.

In the beginning, Heald College offered only a practical training in business arithmetic, bookkeeping and early commercial forms. Today its courses encompass all of the facilities for the highest type of commercial technical training, including a complete engineering college in San Francisco.

From an early enrollment numbering in the dozens, the business college numbers more than 300,000 in its alumni rolls. Its expansion has included the establishment of units in San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento and San Jose.

LAKE OLYMPIA DANCES TOP ALL RECREATIONS

"Name bands" continue to be the attraction at Lake Olympia. Frankie Gordon, "the prince of pep," and his band will be there tomorrow night.

FRANKIE GORDON

Frankie Gordon's band has just recently returned from Hawaii where they got the spirit of the famous sweet music of the islands.

The Lake Olympia management is glad to announce to the dancing public that they plan to have "name bands" throughout the season. And the season is now in full swing as attested by the fine crowds that have been enjoying the fine music and the beautiful setting and floor of the Lake Olmyphia pavilion.

The band, a ten piece aggregation is very pleasing to listen and dance to. Other vocalists in the band are Les Ellithorpe and George Hullin. The vocal trio consist of Gordon, Hullin and Ellithorpe. For the dance fans, the band has the most modern of swing and sweet arrangements in their library and from his last trip to the land of the leis, Frank Gordon brought back several of the newest Hawaiian melodies.

$200 NUGGET

Joe Swazey of French Corral visited in Nevada City and Grass Valley Tuesday. He stated a prospector had picked up a $200 nugget on the east fork of the Yuba river three miles above Downieville last week. It was found above the high water mark high up in the ricks in a crevice.

Clyde Whip is building a new home on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway across from the Lawrence Motors business establishment north east of Nevada City on a site which commands a beautfiul view of the surrounding country.

Aunt Kate Sullivan and Miss Nell Sullivan, of French Corral spent Wednesday in Nevada City visiting friends and attending to business matters.

THIS AND THAT

By ROY GRIFFITH DEETER

Well, to get back to our most persistent topic, the weather, it seems that summer is definitely with us, our garden is simply sizzling with bees, and the sprinklers vie with each other in throwing lariats spray and gaudy rainbows all over the place, our favorite abomination gnats, are also with us in large dark clumps. But what would summer be, without gnats, and flies and ants and dust? Much darn nicer we'd say.

This weeks prognostication: Our esteemed editor will no doubt be in bed on Monday. Our little bird tells us he is going fishing again on Sunday.

This weeks chuckle: A friend of ours, now batching in the tall hills, wrote us that he is never going to get married now that he has tasted his own cooking. And then there's the chap who asked his neighbor if he might borrow his lawn mower, to which the neighbor replied, "yes, if you take our lawn too."

We have just now discovered that we suffer from taphophobia, and we are sure a friend of ours suffers from cynophobia (which we most definitely do not). My, my how we adore these enormous words for little things.

Obvious comment: Somebody said that they take their hat off to the British public for the way they accepted the new tax burden, personally, we feel if the hat were passed around it would be more appreciated.

We are not in the advertising business, but, have you tried Shasta Retreat mineral water? We like to pass on a really good thing when we find one, and this water is grand, it has a great many famous European waters simply shoved off the globe. It is naturally very sparkly, and it is about the best mixer ever, and to add to its virtue, it is a most peppy and refreshing drink all by itself, which is some sort of a record for a mineral water. It can be obtained locally, do try it, with the hot weather upon us, we believe you will thank us for bringing this to your attention.

And so, we say to you, a la Boake Carter, cheerio, everybody.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Long will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary this coming week end with a trip to Chico and a visit with his brother and wife. Each year Mr. and Mrs. Long celebrate the anniversary with a delightful trip some place.

CUB SCOUTS TO PICNIC AT PARK

An appeal to parents of boys from 9 to 11 years of age has been sent by Cubmaster James E. Sowden and H. L. Foreman, chairman of the Pack Committee to parents whose boys desire to enter the Cub Scouts. There are now 17 members in the local pack and it is expected that this number will be doubled before the summer vacation begins.

Parents are asked to participate in the movement by helping their sons to keep their personal record books and by stimulating home activity in the work.

At the picnic grounds in Pioneers park tomorrow night at 7 to 8:30 o'clock there will be a cub scouting meeting, at which a bonfire, games and general good time will be enjoyed by the youngsters. All boys of 9 to 11 years of age are invited to be cub guests.

The Parent Teachers association will meet at the grammar school June 3 at 2:30 p. m. and a feature of the program will be methods of aiding cub scouting in Nevada City. All mothers of boys of the above ages are specially invited to attend.

Mrs. L. B. Gregory will leave tomorrow morning to be at the bedside of her sister in law in Sacramento who is critically ill.

REV. OLMSTEAD HEARD IN GLENWOOD CHURCH

Pastor H. C. Olmstead, preached an interesting and helpful sermon o the Seventh Day Adventist congregation at Glenwood last Sunday. Taking for his text Daniel 12:10 "Many shall be purified and made white and tried," he said it was possible for all his hearers to be saved. In talking to His disciples one day Jesus said: "Fear not—it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the Kingdom." We are not to fear to come to God for He loves us and wants us to trust Him. In John 16: 33 Jesus tells His followers to be of good cheer for He has overcome the world. Jesus overcame all the things that trouble us.

He has promised to keep us in the hour of temptation and also said, "I am with you alway even unto the end of the world." An old Christian who was asked if he could hold on said he had put his hand in God's hand and was sure God would hold on.

A very comforting passage for the follower of God is found in Romans 8:38:39. Nothing can separate us from God's love. No one can keep us out of God's kingdom but ourselves. Eternal life is the gift of God. We do not have to earn Heaven. It is a gift to those who believe His promises and trust Him.

The Apostle Paul just before his death said: "I have fought a good fight. I have kept the faith." Peter denied his Lord just before the crucifixion but Jesus sent a special message to him after the resurrection. He knew how bad Peter would feel and sent him a message of comfort.
